Handbag Holder: Must Have

Ever since our salad days of ritual Sunday church-going, we have been fans of the handbag holder, attaching it to the pew in front of us and admiring both it and our pocketbook.

The days of church attendance have long gone by the wayside for us, but we are still using handbag holders. We were just introduced to Pavina Hangbag purse holders, which currently come in six very pretty styles. We don't have one ourselves so we cannot speak to the quality per se, but they are guaranteed. Their website boasts "Keep your Pavina handbag holder for 30 days and should you decide to return it, we will refund the purchase price of the holder no questions asked."

We like this because we were given a gorgeous handbag holder – a very pricey one at that and it broke the very first time we used it! Check out Pavina at www.marlobrands.com/
